

Spring into a new book...

from Miss Minoli

Boy Under Water – Adam Baron

What a fantastic read Boy Under Water by Adam Baron is! This book follows a boy called Cymbeline Igloo and his lack of experience with swimming! The book starts with lots of humour and intrigue, turning into a serious page turner that you won't want to put down!! His mum has always made excuses for him not having swum before and one school swimming lesson causes serious issues for his whole family. This turns his life upside down and he ends up having to stay with his Aunt and cousins as he strives to find out why his mother has left and begins to discover lots of secrets about his past. A MUST read!

The Infinite Lives of Maisie Day – Christopher Edge

One of a series of short novels from the fantastic author Christopher Edge. A quick read, The Infinite Lives of Maisie Day follows Maisie (a highly intelligent girl with a keen interest in Science) in the lead up to her 10th birthday. She has high expectations of this big milestone and cannot wait for her life to change! On her big day, things really do transform before her very eyes as her house is being engulfed by blackness and she travels up and down a never-ending staircase. An extremely exciting read with a very unpredictable ending! Also check out, The Jamie Drake Equation and The Many Worlds of Albie Bright by the same author!

Miss Minoli's Favourite...

Boy in the Tower – Polly Ho-Yen

This book is one of my absolute favourites and you will be hooked too if you choose to start reading!

Ade loves living at the top of a tower block. From his window, he feels like he can see the whole world stretching out beneath him. His mum doesn't really like looking outside - but it's going outside that she hates. She prefers to sleep all day inside their tower, where it's safe. Except it isn't any more.

The Lost Words: A Spell Book

The Lost Words is a 'book of spells' that seeks to conjure back the near-lost magic and strangeness of the nature that surrounds us. They are called 'spells' rather than poems as they are designed to be spoken out loud in order to summon back these words and creatures into our hearts. The book began as a response to the removal of everyday nature words such as acorn, bluebell and kingfisher from a children's dictionary.
